Person Centered Thinking Communities of Practice

Communities of Practice is an opportunity to share learning and to practice Person Centered skills and techniques after the completion of the Introduction to Person Centered Thinking training in a safe and supportive environment.

Participants will have the opportunity to talk about topics that matter most to that community and learn how to use Person Centered Practices and skills to address them. Those who have completed an Introduction to Person Centered Thinking Training are encouraged to attend to build on their current learning and skills acquired. Communities of Practice is supported by Tri-Counties Regional Center and our service provider community members it is open to our provider partners, people and families that we serve. No registration or cost required.

Communities of Practice are 90 minute sessions that occur every other month at each Tri-Counties Regional Center office and a certificate is provided to those who would like 90 minutes of training to meet the Ongoing Education hours mandated by Title 17 to residential providers and direct service professionals Thank you!
